The MN Practitioner Code of Ethics

V.1.2

August 2018

Multiple Natures International (MNI) is committed to facilitating human alignment through tools and practices based on the Multiple Natures framework. We expect all of our Certified MN Practitioners to respect and fulfill the points in this Code of Ethics in order for us to help more and more people become more aligned with the help of Multiple Natures®. The following Code of Ethics shall serve as a set of guidelines to help us ensure accountability and to enable us to enforce the standards we hold to be integral to the successful implementation of Multiple Natures world wide.

Standards of Ethics

A. General Practice

As an MN Practitioner I shall:

1. Behave in a manner that is in keeping with the MNI Code of Ethics with respect to my advisory activities.
2. Recognize that this code governs my relationships with all stakeholders in my MN practice including clients, supervisors, colleagues, other MN Practitioners, clients of other Practitioners, supervisees, management of MNI, and partners and collaborators of MNI.
3. Ensure that those who assist me in working with my clients also uphold the MNI Code of Ethics.

4. Take immediate action in addressing breaches of any ethics violations involving myself or others.
5. Create awareness among others about the MNI Code of Ethics where it may be deemed important.
6. Ensure I accurately represent information about myself (including my certifications, qualifications, experience, expertise and training), my advisory services, Multiple Natures, the MN Practitioner process, and MNI.
7. Avoid discrimination of all types in my professional activities, including disability, race, ethnicity, sexual and gender orientation, age, national origin, or religion.
8. Make all reasonable attempts to identify personal issues that may interfere with my advisory performance and relationships. I shall seek appropriate professional help and will take action to suspend my advisory activities and relationships if the situation warrants.

B: Conflicts of Interest

As an MN Practitioner I shall:

1. Seek to be conscious of any conflict or potential conflict of interest, openly disclose any such conflict to concerned parties, and to offer to remove myself when a conflict arises.
2. Be transparent with my clients about compensation I may receive from third parties for referrals of clients or that I pay to receive clients.
3. Perform my practitioner duties to the best of my ability irrespective of the amount or form of compensation.

C. Professional Conduct with Clients

As an MN Practitioner I shall:

1. Make accurate statements regarding my coaching abilities and the potential value of my MN services to others including clients and prospective clients.
2. Establish clear expectations of my MN professional engagement to potential clients, including details such as the process, the anticipated outcomes, the limitations of the process, financial arrangements, and other terms and factors essential to the advisory process.
3. Prior to beginning my professional relationship with clients, create a service agreement that delineates the processes, roles, responsibilities, and rights of the client, Practitioner, and any other associated parties.

4. Honor with positivity the client's decision to terminate the engagement at any stage of the process, with due consideration to the provisions of the agreement.
5. Recommend the client seek the services of another MN Practitioner or professional if I believe the client will be better served.
6. Establish boundaries with clients and mentors related interactions, physical and otherwise, that respect social and cultural sensitivity and make them feel safe, comfortable, and protected.
7. Refrain from engaging in relationships in a sexual or romantic manner with current clients, students, or supervisees.
8. Ensure colleagues and mentees abide by points 6 and 7, and I shall take immediate and appropriate action to ensure corrective measures are instituted.

D. Relationship with Colleagues and MNI

As an MN Practitioner I shall:

1. Respect and recognize the work, efforts, and contributions of others.
2. Refrain from competing with other MN Practitioners and colleagues, and instead foster a spirit of collaboration and cooperation for the best interest of all clients, MN Practitioners, and other stakeholders.
3. Maintain a positive and supportive attitude when issues or differences arise, and aim to find a resolution that creates harmony for all stakeholders.

E. Confidentiality & Privacy

As an MN Practitioner I shall:

1. Ensure the highest degree of confidentiality of all client and mentor information is maintained.
2. Establish a clear agreement about the manner in which the clients personal and advisory information will be shared with other Practitioners, clients, mentors, and others.
3. Have a clear agreement when acting as a coach, coach mentor, coaching supervisor or trainer, with both client and sponsor, student, mentee, or supervisee about the conditions under which confidentiality may not be maintained (e.g., illegal activity, pursuant to valid court order or subpoena; imminent or likely risk of danger to self or to others, etc.) and make sure both client and sponsor, student, mentee, or supervisee voluntarily and knowingly agree in writing to that limit of confidentiality.

Where I reasonably believe that because one of the above circumstances is applicable, I may need to inform appropriate authorities.

4. Ensure that all information collected and produced during the MN enagement is handled in a manner that promotes the highest degree of confidentiality, security, and privacy possible, and is compliant with any applicable laws and agreements.
5. Use contact information of clients, MN Practitioners, and MNI members only in the manner permitted by MNI.

F. Personal & Professional Development

As an MN Practitioner I shall:

1. Recognize my need to enhance my knowledge and skills for my own personal and professional growth, and shall make efforts to do so by attending trainings and programs from time to time related to Multiple Natures®.

The MNI Practitioner's Pledge

As an MN Practitioner, I hereby pledge to uphold my responsibility to all stakeholders in the sphere of my work, community, and to society at large. I agree to adhere to the MNI Code of Ethics, and to live by these standards for their benefit. If I fail to comply with any part of this code, I agree that MNI may hold me accountable for doing so, and recognize that this may include loss of my MN Practitioner certification and credentials.
